ACE Application Guidelines For Continuing Education Providers

Guidelines, criteria and instructions for filing an application for approval status
from the Approved Continuing Education
(ACE) Program of the Association of Social Work Boards

The Approved Continuing Education (ACE) program of the Association of Social Work Boards (ASWB) began in 1998 as a way to assist ASWB's member boards with information about quality providers of continuing education. The association also saw the approval of continuing education providers as a way to meet one of its goals, which is to bring greater standardization to social work regulation.

Through this program, CE providers can earn the recognition of a social work organization that is national and now increasingly international in scope.

This manual will explain in detail what ASWB is, and how the ACE program works. It will list guidelines and criteria that ACE-approved providers must meet in order to be recognized by the program.

Consistent with the important public protection mission of ASWB, its Approved Continuing Education staff and committee both take very seriously the responsibility of reviewing the organization, staffing, and adherence to professional ethics and standards of all ACE providers. This is not an easy application, and takes time and attention. Staff at ASWB will work with your organization if necessary to assist you in completing it, and in making any improvements that might be needed.

ASSOCIATION OF SOCIAL WORK BOARDS

The Approved Continuing Education Program is sponsored by the Association of Social Work Boards, the non-profit association made up of social work regulatory boards from 53 jurisdictions in the United States, and Canada.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Formed in 1979, the Association of Social Work Boards was created to help state social work regulatory boards share knowledge, and to increase the protection of the public through better evaluation of social work professionals. The continuing purpose of ASWB and its members, social work regulatory bodies, is expressed in its mission statement:

"The mission of the Association of Social Work Boards is to assist social work regulatory bodies in carrying out their legislated mandates, and to encourage jurisdictional efforts to protect a diverse public served by social workers who are regulated through common values, ethics, and practice standards. The Association will help to foster public and professional understanding of the value, competency, and accountability of regulated social workers."

ASWB encourages and aids collaborative efforts among member social work licensure boards in developing compatible standards and cooperative procedures for the legal regulation of social workers, toward the goal of simplifying and standardizing the licensing process. The association's member boards have a longstanding interest in sharing information on continuing education requirements for licensure. ASWB monitors and documents trends in continuing education, including the various criteria of all member jurisdictions, such as hours for renewal, definitions, and documentation.

THE ACE PROGRAM

The Approved Continuing Education (ACE) Program is a specific service offered by ASWB. Through this program, ASWB reviews applications for approval of continuing education providers on a national and international basis.

Members of the ASWB Approved Continuing Education Committee (ACE) are appointed by the ASWB president and approved by the Board of Directors. This diverse group is made up of social workers with practice or academic backgrounds; most also have regulatory board experience.

The ACE Committee is responsible for developing selection criteria, reviewing applications and recommending continuing education providers to the ASWB Board of Directors for approval. ACE approved providers include universities, professional associations, and non-profit and for profit organizations offering continuing education programs for social workers.

ASWB does not approve individual courses. Those seeking approval for individual courses should consult states/provinces, who have statutory authority to approve individual courses.

The work of the committee in approving providers of CE is confidential, subject to disclosure within the association and to ASWB member boards, upon request, necessary to comply with assessment criteria. Disclosure outside the association will be subject to legal mandate, as advised by ASWB counsel or a court of competent jurisdiction.

When reviewing an application, the committee reserves the right to seek expert advice and relevant information from other external sources, provided that such information is kept confidential by the committee and the advisor.

ELIGIBILITY

Any organization responsible for the overall development and implementation of continuing education in social work may apply for an ASWB ACE Provider approval number. Specific eligibility requirements include:

- Applicant has been operational for a minimum of six months

- Applicant has planned and presented three continuing education activities appropriate for social workers
- Applicant has a licensed social worker* involved in the planning, implementation and monitoring of social work continuing education
- Applicant can supply evaluation and documentation of programs

APPROVAL

ASWB cautions CE providers that the final authority for recognizing any continuing education activity rests with the jurisdiction where the participant is licensed. Applicants for ACE approval should consult the ASWB website at www.aswb.org to determine each jurisdiction's requirements. Licensed social workers are responsible for contacting their individual board to review continuing education requirements for licensure renewal.

An ACE provider's approval is considered probationary for the first year of activity after successfully completing the ACE approval process. During this probationary period, the provider submits additional information following an outline provided by ACE. After the first probationary year, application for renewal occurs at three-year intervals. All application fees are non-refundable, covering application processing and the approval period, if granted.

In the event that ASWB denies an application for initial approval or extension of approval, or terminates recognition, the applicant/provider may appeal the decision to the ASWB Board of Directors. Appeals must be made in writing to the Executive Director of ASWB at the association's current address, and must include the non-refundable administrative appeal fee.

Approved providers must conspicuously place the following statement on all publications for social work continuing education courses:

*"This organization (provider name and approval number) is approved as a provider for continuing education by the Association of Social Work Boards
400 South Ridge Parkway, Suite B, Culpeper, VA 22701. www.aswb.org. ASWB Approval Period: _____ (dates). Social workers should contact their regulatory board to determine course approval.*

Social workers will receive _____ continuing education clock hours in participating in this course.”

REQUIRED RECORDS

Approved providers are required to collect and maintain the following records:

- Organizational changes
- Co-sponsored events, including co-sponsoring agreements
- Instructor information for each course offered
- Participant attendance
- Social worker attendance
- Participant evaluations
- Number of credits issued for each course
- Grievances and resolutions
- Requests made for accommodations for persons with disabilities and such services provided to participants

ACE approved providers must submit summaries of these records at the time of approval renewal and/or as requested by ASWB.

ACE SELECTION CRITERIA

Criterion 1 CONTINUING EDUCATION ADMINISTRATION

The continuing education director must be a visible, identifiable authority, charged with ensuring that each program to be presented by the provider or presented under the provider's ACE approval number meets the requirements of the ASWB Approved Continuing Education Program.

The applicant must adopt a statement setting forth the organization's mission and goals for the provision and evaluation of continuing education.

Administrative stability must be demonstrated. The applicant must demonstrate a procedure for the smooth and orderly transfer of administrative responsibilities from one individual to another in the event of an administrative change, including due notification to ASWB of such changes. Care must be taken during transitional periods to assure that the new administrator is thoroughly familiar with ASWB standards for ACE-approved continuing education providers.

The applicant must provide ASWB with written notification, within 10 days, of any change in the continuing education director, address, web site address or telephone number (see application, section A).

Distance education provider applicants must include email and web site address on their ACE application. Applicants must demonstrate that interactive web sites are secure. ASWB will periodically monitor web site security.

Criterion 2 CO-SPONSORSHIP

ACE approved providers who work with other providers in the development, distribution and/or presentation of continuing education courses engage in co-sponsorship. Co-sponsorship is an opportunity for an ACE approved provider to work closely with another provider (approved or not) to arrange quality continuing education courses in full accord with ACE standards. On a limited basis and under specified conditions, ASWB ACE approved providers may co-sponsor with other reputable providers of continuing education for programs that otherwise meet ACE criteria.

Under a co-sponsorship arrangement, the ACE approved provider assumes responsibility for compliance with all ACE program requirements. Early in the planning, the functions of each party shall be identified and documented, including but not limited to financial, administrative and instructional. Failure to abide by ACE standards may subject the ACE approved provider to adverse action by the association and may jeopardize the ACE provider's approval status.

Information, recognition numbers and indicators of ACE approved providers are not transferable to any other entity and may not be used or displayed on promotional material, websites or used in any manner that may be misleading to the public. Only ACE approved providers may use the ACE identifying information and recognition numbers.

Criterion 3 PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

Content

Course content must be pertinent to social work theory, methods and practice, reflecting current research and best practices*. Materials originally designed for audiences other than social workers must be carefully reviewed and modified as necessary. All continuing education courses, regardless of format, must meet ACE requirements.

Applicants for ACE approval are required to review the educational requirements of the social work boards in jurisdictions where they provide continuing education to determine if course offerings meet the needs of social workers in those jurisdictions.

The social work consultant* must participate in assessing the educational needs of social workers for the purpose of course development.

Identify the licensure categories and/or skill levels at which this program is targeted. Does the course offer a beginning, intermediate or advanced treatment of this particular topic? In the particular content area, course content must be appropriate as stated on materials, for beginning, intermediate, or advanced level practitioners of social work (MSW plus post degree experience). A syllabus or general outline of the course must be made available to participants at the beginning of each course offered.

Continuing education programs must include written educational goals and specific, measurable learning objectives as the basis for evaluation of course effectiveness. The use of a post-testing procedure is strongly encouraged to determine how effectively learning objectives were met.

Instructional materials used (e.g. training manual, handouts, outlines, background materials, audiovisual aids, etc.) must enhance the participant's understanding of the topic(s). Bibliographies and supplemental materials for additional reading are encouraged.

If research is referenced, study and source information must be provided.

Appropriate equipment and quality materials must be used.

Distance Education

Distance education^{*} is an alternative method to face-to-face contact for the delivery of continuing education for social workers. All ACE approval criteria apply. Not all jurisdictions currently approve distance-learning courses. In addition to meeting ACE approval requirements, distance education providers must:

- Provide a field-tested^{*} method of determining credit hours
- Provide scheduled access^{*} to a contact person
- Provide scheduled interaction^{*} between instructor and participant
- Have the capacity for completed assignments to be faxed, mailed, or e-mailed to qualified instructors for correction, grading, comment, and subject matter guidance
- Return corrected assignments to participants in a timely manner
- Provide a method for verifying that the individual participated in the continuing education activity, and that all work was done by the person awarded the credit
- Employ electronic security measures, and reliable technology
- Provide e-mail and website address information on ACE application

Instructors

The quality of continuing education courses and the value of those courses depend on the ability and the expertise of instructors. Instructors for each continuing education course must have professional qualifications in good standing with their professional regulatory board, if applicable, and meet one or more of the following:

- Be a faculty member of an undergraduate or graduate school of social work
- Have received specialized graduate or postgraduate level training in the subject taught in the program
- Have extensive experience to include no less than five years of practical application or research involving the subject taught in the course

Instructors providing social work ethics courses must be licensed social workers* in good standing.

In the ACE application, applicants providing distance education course work must document instructor availability to participants. Applicants/instructors must possess the technical expertise to communicate their subject matter effectively.

Evaluation

An evaluation is an important component of continuing social work education. Effective continuing education courses must be professionally relevant. Relevancy is assessed on three levels: 1) by individual participant evaluation, 2) by course evaluation, and 3) by program evaluation.

The applicant must develop and implement participant evaluations; both course and program evaluations are recommended.

1) Participant Evaluation

The ACE approved provider is required to collect an evaluation document from each participant who expects to receive CE credit. This evaluation must include the following elements:

- Learning goals and objectives
- Course appropriateness to participant's education, experience, and licensure level
- Relevance to practice and currency of information
- Instructor's knowledge of subject matter, effectiveness, presentation, clarity and responsiveness to participants
- Instructor's ability to utilize course-appropriate technology to support participant learning
- Suitability and/or usefulness of instructional materials
- Location, facilities, technology, administration of the program
- Accessibility for distance learning consultation

2) Course Evaluation

ACE providers are expected to use educationally sound methods to evaluate courses. Evaluations may be analyzed, summarized, interpreted and used to improve the provider's continuing education courses.

3) Program Evaluation

Course quality reflects program quality. The ACE provider is expected to make modifications based on course evaluation information.

Criterion 4 RECORD KEEPING

ACE approval status is contingent on providing ASWB with a summary report(s) for review and approval by the ACE Committee at the end of the first approval year, and every three years thereafter (e.g. for extension of provider approval).

The following information must be maintained by the provider for at least seven years:

- Names and resumes of continuing education directors and social work consultants^{*}
- Participant name, profession, and license/certification/registration number from appropriate jurisdiction
- Course title, date, location and credits awarded
- Course outline/syllabus and learning objectives
- Course instructor's qualifications and professional affiliations
- ADA requests and services provided
- Grievances and resolutions
- Course evaluations

ACE providers must allow full access to this information upon request by ASWB. The ACE Committee retains the right and authority to audit and/or monitor programs and review provider records and course materials. All audit requests must be met within 21 days of receipt of request.

The ACE provider must allow participants access to information about their course participation.

Criterion 5 ATTENDANCE

For on-site and distance learning courses, ACE providers must have procedures for documenting participation; e.g. an attendance roster, sign-in log, and program evaluations completed by attendees.

The ACE provider must issue a completed and signed certificate verifying attendance and credit awarded to each participant who completes the course. These certificates may only be provided after the participant has completed the course, and must be provided within 30 days after the event. Duplicate or replacement certificates must be clearly marked as “replacement copy” or “duplicate copy.”

Certificates of credit and/or other means of documenting credit must include:

- Name of the participant, social work license/certification/registration number
- Title, location, date(s) of the course and amount of credit awarded
- Approved provider sponsoring or co-sponsoring the course
- ACE approval statement

Criterion 6 ASSIGNING CREDIT

Providers must adhere to a uniform system for assigning credit based on the continuing education hour, defined as a 60-minute hour with no less than 50 minutes of uninterrupted instruction. The number of continuing education credits must be determined before the course is offered. The course must be a minimum of one continuing education hour, in one block of time.

- Instructors must adhere to the published time schedule in order for full credit to be given.
- Distance learning courses must be field-tested* to determine credit hours.

Criterion 7 PROMOTION AND ADVERTISING

ACE providers must promote and advertise each course in keeping with social work ethics (e.g. as defined under applicable state and federal laws).

Adequate and accurate advance information must be provided to prospective participants. Promotional materials (e.g. brochures, advertisement, memoranda, web sites or other announcements) must include the following:

- Educational goals and specific learning objectives of the course
- Course target audience

- Targeted social work practice levels, e.g. entry-level, intermediate level, or advanced level social workers
- Instructors and their credentials
- Course fees, including what is covered, and deadlines for cancellations and refunds
- Course syllabus or agenda
- Continuing education hours offered
- Clear information about jurisdictional approvals and specific CE requirements
- ACE provider number, approval statement and expiration date
- Instructions for requesting ADA accommodations
- Course completion requirements; e.g. completing a course evaluation, participating in all sessions or assignments
- Statement of when and how certificate will be given
- Where both educational and non-educational sessions are offered, the courses for credit must be clearly identified
- Instructions for addressing grievances; contact information

Criteria 8 PARTICIPANT GRIEVANCES

ACE Providers must respond to all complaints received by the provider, a regulatory board, or ASWB in a timely and ethical manner.

The ACE provider must have policies and procedures for grievance management; e.g. refund requests, complaints about course content and/or facilities, non-receipt of certificates, etc. These policies must be in a written format to assure due process for all complainants.

The social worker consultant* must be involved in all grievance resolutions.

Explanation of Terms

The following terms are found throughout the ACE application and ACE provider guidelines.

ADA policy ACE approved providers must publish an ADA statement, in promotional brochures and other material disseminated to the public instructing potential participants on how to request accommodations. An example of this ADA statement:

ASWB The Association of Social Work Boards

ASWB mission statement “The mission of the Association of Social Work Boards is to assist social work regulatory bodies in carrying out their legislated mandates, and to encourage jurisdictional efforts to protect a diverse public served by social workers who are regulated through common values, ethics, and practice standards. Distance education The acquisition of knowledge and skills through mediated information and instruction, encompassing all technologies. Instructors and students remain at different locations and are linked by a communications medium. An alternative method to face-to-face contact for the delivery of continuing education, distance education includes home study through studying a book, audio or video tape and completing a test, as well as interactive course work completed using the internet.

Cultural Competence Cultural competence in social work continuing education implies a heightened consciousness of how people experience their uniqueness and deal with their differences and similarities within a larger social context. Courses may reflect:

In social organizations the term usually refers to the range of people who more accurately represent minority populations and people from varied backgrounds, cultures, ethnicities and viewpoints.

Ethical conduct Behavior meeting a community's positive moral standards, distinguishing right from wrong and adhering to the right. For professional social workers, ethical conduct also involves adhering to the profession's code of ethics, providing the highest and most skillful level of service to clients possible and relating to colleagues, other professionals, all people and society in an honorable manner. The definition of "good moral character" is grounded in public protection, based on the public's right to expect the highest degree of integrity from members of the social work profession.

Field test Process used to determine the length of time it takes a participant to complete a workshop or course by presenting the course in its entirety to a sample group of participants. This method is used by a continuing education provider to assign an accurate number of continuing education credits based on the number of hours required to complete the course. Fifty instructional minutes per sixty-minute hour is the standard for assigning continuing education credits.

Grievance Any complaint made by a participant, potential participant or former participant about a continuing education provider's course offering(s), promotional or educational materials, course site, facilities or technological resources is considered a grievance. The provider must document all grievance reports, whether the complaint was made to the provider, ASWB or another source. In addition, the provider must keep a record of all actions taken by the provider to address the grievance.

Jurisdiction The geographical limits or territory within which specific power, rights or authority may be exercised. This designation may apply to a state, province or territory holding the authority to license and regulate social workers.

Learning objectives The provider must have clear and concise written statements of intended goals or outcomes reflecting what learners will gain from a course or courses. These reflect skills, knowledge, and/or attitudes a learner should be able to demonstrate following the learning experience. Learning objectives are the foundation for planning, instruction and assessment of a learning experience.

Licensed social worker An individual who has met the requirements to practice social work as defined by a governmental authority empowered to regulate social work, and is currently in good standing with that authority.

Licensure "Licensure" as used in ACE materials applies to any grant of formal government authorization to practice social work or to identify oneself as a regulated practitioner of social work. Individual jurisdictions may refer to this as certification, registration or licensing of an individual for the practice of social work. Typical requirements for licensure are that the individual has submitted a written application in the form prescribed by the board, has attained the age of majority, is of good moral character, has graduated and received the Bachelor's, Master's or Doctorate degree in social work from an approved social work program, has successfully passed an examination or examinations prescribed by the Board and has paid all applicable fees specified by the Board relative to the licensure process.

Scheduled access The publication of scheduled written or verbal access for communication between an instructor and student(s), for the purpose of subject matter guidance, correction, grading, comment, or problem resolution. This is especially important in distance education courses, when instructors and students remain at different locations and are linked by a communications medium.

Scheduled interaction The scheduling of written or verbal communication between an instructor and student(s), for the purpose of subject matter guidance, correction, grading, comment, or problem resolution. This is especially important in distance education courses, when instructors and students remain at different locations and are linked by a communications medium.

Social work mission The primary mission of the social work profession is the enhancement of human well-being, helping to meet the basic human needs and empowerment of people who are vulnerable, oppressed, and living in poverty.

Social worker consultant The social worker consultant to an ACE approved continuing education provider participates in and monitors the planning and implementation of educational goals, learning objectives, instructional materials, learning needs assessment, course evaluations and promotional materials. This individual is licensed, has been or is currently practicing social work privately or within an institutional setting, and is in good standing with appropriate regulatory boards.

Web site security Access to a participant's file must be protected by password or some other secure method. Credit card transactions must be processed on a secure payment site.

“HTTPS” (instead of “http”) in the web address indicates that the site is being processed on a secure server to protect confidential credit card information submitting information over the Internet. “HTTPS” incorporates a Secure Socket Layer to handle secure internet transactions.
